Chirp from Encore Sings with Design Possibilities

May 16, 2016, Cerritos, CA— There's a distinctive melody resonating in commercial interiors that signals the introduction of a lively new seating collection - Chirp from Encore. Comprised of a beautifully-arranged offering of guest chairs, lounge seating and accompanying stools, Chirp makes a cohesive design statement across a variety of contract environments.

With an open, inviting design underscored by crisp linear elements and subtle curves, Chirp speaks to both classic and contemporary styles. Its artfully-crafted frame is striking in its simplicity, providing visual appeal that resounds with character from every angle without compromising on comfort or support.

The Chirp guest chair sets the tone for the offering, with signature wood legs reminiscent of mid-century modernism and a smaller profile than its lounge counterpart. An available self-returning swivel base model allows for greater ease of movement when collaborating or engaging in casual conversation, while a sled base option delivers yet another aesthetic variation to fulfill design preferences.

More generously proportioned and available in both mid and high-back sizes, Chirp lounge provides a welcome place to rest, work or get together with others. Like all models within the collection, its modest aesthetic is highlighted by subtly tapered lines and refined stitching that gives it a tailored, yet casual appearance, contributing to a residential feel that's in-step with current design trends.

Rounding out the offering, stool models provide the perfect perching companion to fellow guest and lounge chairs or stand equally well on their own. Compact in size, yet considerable in purpose, their charming stature makes them all the more appealing. Available in both counter and bar-heights, stools also feature a built-in footrest as well as multiple glide options to accommodate hard and soft-surface flooring.

As a full collection, Chirp is exceptional in its flexibility across a breadth of applications. Its comfort and durability make it an ideal seating solution for educational facilities where students gather and linger to study or socialize; however, it's equally well-suited for lobbies and perching areas in corporate environments, touch-down spaces for workers who are frequently on the go, and even cafés. When dressed in colorful fabrics and refined finishes, Chirp also makes a grand entrance in hospitality environments.

“With Chirp, Encore offers designers a relaxed, yet elegant and comfortable seating solution that makes a bold design statement,” says Helen Kim, Encore’s Director of Marketing. “All models coordinate harmoniously with one another and are available with nearly endless material options, making Chirp a remarkably flexible seating solution for specifiers.”

Chirp is available now and will be on display in Encore’s permanent showroom in Chicago’s Merchandise Mart during NeoCon and throughout the year.
