When it Comes to Versatility, Encore's Kenzie Tables Come out on Top

October 16, 2015, Cerritos, CA—From striking lobbies to posh lounges, hip higher education spaces and contemporary corporate offices, one thing commercial interiors share in common is the need for attractive yet resilient occasional tables. Kenzie, the newest offering from Encore, meets this demand with style and ease, complementing virtually any environment it calls home.

The brilliance of Kenzie's design emerges from its multidimensional construction. Designed by David Dahl, its interplay of materials is a celebration in contrast, yet subtle design details are continued throughout to maintain an effortless cohesion. Its generously proportioned round top seamlessly integrates with its delicate metal legs, providing a unique sense of balance between shape and scale, as well as creating visual interest that makes it a centerpiece in contract interiors.

All of the tables in the Kenzie collection are available in four surface options, including wood veneer, laminate, Corian and back-painted glass. Both Maple and Walnut wood species are offered in any of Encore's standard and custom finish options to meet an even greater demand for aesthetic preferences. Likewise, metal legs are available in Graphite, Metallic Silver, Chrome, and Satin Black—as well as premium finish options—that can bring practically any room to life.

Available in three heights (16", 18" and 20") and four diameters (19", 21", 29" and 36"), Kenzie also demonstrates exceptional versatility, making it the perfect companion to a variety of seating offerings in varying scales and configurations. The gentle upward tapering detail of its legs further provides Kenzie with a unique profile that adds depth and dimension.

"Kenzie marks Encore's second collaboration with David Dahl, who previously designed the Suite guest, tandem, lounge and bench collection," says David Logsdon, Director of Sales. "Occasional tables continue to be a growing segment of our business, and Kenzie provides another fantastic option to choose from with a simple, clean design that's suitable for anywhere a touch of relaxed sophistication is desired."
