TASK AND EXECUTIVE SEATING REACH NEW HEIGHTS WITH ENCORE'S PINNACLE COLLECTION

October 23, 2014, Cerritos, CA—Encore is elevating the design conversation with the introduction of Pinnacle, a sophisticated collection of executive, task and guest seating that is perfectly adapted to the open, flexible and collaborative nature of today's workplace. Intended for contemporary corporate environments, the collection's elegant styling belies its wide variety of functional and aesthetic options, resulting in an unparalleled seating experience.

Equally at home in a conference room, workstation or executive office, Pinnacle is characterized by a slim profile and geometric form that creates a crisp, tailored look even when viewed from behind. With an array of upholstery, base, back and arm choices, the collection offers exceptional versatility and can be dressed up or down to complement virtually any workplace setting. The breathable knit suspension back is available in ten striking colors ranging from sunny yellows to cool blues and warm neutrals, and the upholstered back option can be specified in an assortment of rich, patterned fabrics for added visual interest.

Pinnacle isn't all about appearance however; it offers superior comfort through a memory foam-enhanced seat (standard on all models) as well as a compound, curved back and seat shape that are designed to provide long-term support in a variety of seated positions, including upright during tasking functions or reclined for more casual settings.

Its upscale counterpart, the refined Pinnacle EX, is available in high or mid-back styles, with chrome and polished aluminum accents—including an intuitive synchro knee-tilt mechanism for easy adjustment—that add an air of sophistication to the corporate board room or office. Other tastefully crafted elements include a contoured chrome back support and stitching details on fully upholstered models, which add yet another level of refinement.

The accompanying guest chair features the same back upholstery options as Pinnacle task and executive models and is offered in all Encore standard and premium frame finishes. All chairs in the collection are cohesively designed to complement one another in shared environments or stand equally well on their own.

“The changing nature of today’s workplace requires seating products that meet the diverse needs of users and that are as flexible as they are stylish,” notes David Logsdon, Encore Director of Sales. “Pinnacle represents a step up in contract seating by offering designers and specifiers unmatched versatility in a single collection that is perfectly suited for these dynamic interiors.”

Whether conferencing, working, collaborating or simply waiting, Pinnacle offers superior comfort and clean, contemporary styling that complements any corporate environment.
